December 3rd 2018: Final Show

This will be the finale show before we move Preparing for Robots to a podcast series. On this weeks show we are going to summarize the first 12 shows, examine lessons learned and look at trends of the future. Listeners will consider how these issues from the last 12 weeks will impact them as leaders, professionals and employees within the larger system. Dave will offer many calls to action as we continue to try and make people aware of the huge changes coming our way and what to do about it.
